Fine Art Metal Panel is a unique product which allows direct printing onto aluminum with pigmented inks and an aqueous printer. Fine Art Metal Panel can be fed right through most Epson large format printers as the aluminum panel has a thickness of only 1.2mm. The resulting print is of an amazing high quality and visual appearance, judged to give better detail and sharper resolution compared to dye sub aluminium prints.

To give your finished Fine Art Metal Panel an extra protection it is recommended to apply a film lamination which will also add depth to the print. By applying a different finish of film laminate (matt, satin, gloss etc) you choose your own finished look. Fine Art Metal Panel printing does not require the investment of high costs heat press and transfer paper printer, making high quality aluminum printing accessible to the greater market

Accessoires required for production

- Roll laminator
- Lamination film
- Mounting systems

Some basic printing instructions - detailed information available on TDS.

1. Loading the sheet: Fine Art Metal Panel is loaded into your printer like a normal sheet of paper or canvas
2. Configuring printer settings: printing on Fine Art Metal Panel is very similar to printing any other media with only a few adjustments for the thickness.
 - a. Select the printer profile
 - b. Media type / Print quality (max quality) / Source (sheet)
 - c. Paper thickness: 12 (1.2mm) / Platen gap wider
3. Laminate the sheet: use a roll laminator with a 2mil+ laminate film to protect the printed sheet and chose your preferred finish. It is advised to use a dust removal roller to remove dust and debris from the surface of the print. Do not laminate immediately after printing - leave it for at least a few hours up to a day for it to dry properly.
